If the Final Fixing Value of all Underlyings is at or above the Cap Level, the performance of the product is always given by the Coupons paid out during the term. However, if the Final Fixing Value of at least one Underlying is below the Cap Level, the investor will receive a physical delivery of a number of Underlyings as defined in Ratio of the Underlying having the largest negative performance. The acquisition price of the delivered Underlyings is 60.00% of the Initial Fixing Value, which means that the performance of the product is less negative than the performance of the Underlying. This negative performance is reduced by the guaranteed Coupons paid out during the term.

The table above is valid at maturity only and is by no means meant as a price indication for the present product throughout its lifetime. Additional risk factors may have a significant impact on the value of the product during the term. The price quoted on the secondary market can therefore deviate substantially from the above table. For this table it was assumed, that Novartis AG was the worst performing Underlying. This selection is just a representative example of the possible alternatives. Currency risks between the Underlyings and the Product are not considered in the table.
